THE MICHIGAN MURBER.

Additional and Corrected Details-The

The account of the recent terrible murder in Michigan, and the arrest of the murderer in Grafton on Thursday, which appeared in Saturday morning's LEADER, though correct in its main features, was, as might be expected from a report gathered at second hand, inaccurate in some of its details. We have, since its publication, learned some additional and corrected details of the circumstances of the murder and arrest, from Mr. Hand, Station Agent at Grafton Station, and Conductor Tyler, on whose train the nurderer was taken to Toledo, which we

The place of the murder was not Coldwaer, as we stated Saturday, but Woodstock, nine miles from Hudson. The circum stances were as follows: The murderer Bivins arrived at Handon m Monday, and hired a horse and sleigh there, with which he drove to the home of his wife's father, where she was living, and took her to his own father's home. He remained there over night, and on Tuesday returned to Hudson leaving his wife at his father's house in Woodstock, and giving her the impression that he was going back to Ohio. On his arrival in Hudson he returned the horse and sleigh which he had been using, and, hiring another establishment at another stable, returned in the evening to Woodstock. His confession throws a light on his actions on striving the second time at his father's house. He says that immediately on entering his father. The cap snapped, he cocked the pistol again; and taking airs, shot the old been, gentleman through the head. He then shot his mother, who was sitting in a chair. By this time his wife had stepped up to him, and plead that he would not kill her, and he says she caught hold of the weapon. Determined on accomplishing his purpose, he endeavored to wrench the weapon from her grasp, but she succeeded in getting i from him. A scuills ensued, which ended in his recovering the weapon and shooting her through the heart. He then set fire to the premises: got into his buggy, and starton his return, leaving behind him, in his agitation, a buffalo-robe and strap, which

He took the matter with perfect coolness, not appearing alarmed even when a party of soldiers who were on the train made an attempt to lynch him. He conversed over the matter with perfect coolness, neither justifying or condemning it. He seemed to car, as people might went to look at him. The young girl in Grafton to whom he was engaged, and to whom he was to have been married within a few days, at first refused to believe his guilt, and was with difficulty restrained from going at once to see him, when she heard of his arrest. Bivins says that he went to Michigan

REMAINS OF CAPTAIN W. W. HUNT RECOV-Many of our readers will recollect the announcement of the death of Captain W. W. His wis ow and friends had of course " ver up all hope of ever being able ocover his remains, but upon the advance of Thomas from Nashville and the re-occupation of the old Franklin battleground, some of the officers of the 100th Regiment determined to ascertain, if possible, the resting place of their former comrade, and in searching near the place where the body had been left, found it, as decently buried as was possible under the circum stances, and with clothing, papers, &c., untouched. Disinterring the remains, the officers procured a coffin, and had them properly re-buried and the grave enclosed with a picket fence so as to be identified by the relatives of the deceased, who were immediately informed of the disposition that

The receipts from bills matured and maturing in he sarly part of the present week, furnished a bet ter supply of surrency to the Banks, and the mar-ket was sensibly easier up to Thursday, when a change in the opposite direction began to be noted, partly in consequence of the drafts to pay Bailroad vidends made on the lat inst, and in a measpublic, and to-day the market closes tight, with a arger offering of paper than for some time past. The restrictive course of the Banks noted by us last week, was adhered to during the week just closed, and very little paper coming from other than regular depositors met with acceptance, the exception being only in favor of the very best names. This rule is not only in a measure necessary from cir-cumstancer, but is adopted, also, as one of expediency and safety, and is just fled by the unsettle omittion of trads, and the uncertainty that enve oper all operations. Even if our Banks were even so well prepared to extend the largest accommodaions to operators of one kind and another, such a curse would be manifestly unwise when values are o unstable and fluctuating as at present, and though this discriminative policy doubtless creates nany disappointments, it cannot be regarded as a exterance. om the opening to the close uniformly dult, keavy and unsettled-conditions naturally incident a the present status of our political and military affairs, but in the present case augmented by the rumors, expectations and surmises that the week has been so pralific of. Shadows of place have con tantly, as was the case the week provious, filled the minds of the people, and dreams of lower prices annual those who needed to buy, while the miler was all w to accept the signs as having in them any diability. As a consequence, therefore, only the nost necessary wants were supplied, and these as sparingly as could be, the business of our merchants being in the main a retail trade for everything in the way of Produce. With one or two exceptions, the market to-day closed at about the same figures ATOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that as last Saturday. Wheat is 5@10c lower, and Oats 2c lower—these being the only Grains that have undergone an actual decline. Dried Apples graw weaker toward the close, and sold about he lower than last week.
